GRADUATE SCHOOL OF BUSINESS AND PUBLIC POLICY

Defense Acquisition Management Lecturer/Senior Lecturer Naval Postgraduate School

Non-tenure Track Faculty
Graduate School of Business Public Policy
Naval Postgraduate School, Monterey, CA

The Graduate School of Business and Public Policy (GSBPP) at the Naval Postgraduate School (NPS) seeks candidates for non-tenure track positions in defense acquisition management. Responsibilities include teaching graduate courses in defense acquisition management, advising student theses and projects, conducting defense acquisition-related research, and managing course/curriculum development and administration.

Candidates for this position should show evidence of strong commitment to graduate-level teaching in a DOD academic institution. Candidates should also display a willingness to teach both resident and distance learning courses and the potential to conduct research of value to DOD. NPS offers courses year round on an 11-week quarter basis. Non-tenure track faculty normally teach four quarters per year. Additional information about our programs and faculty can be found at <http://www.nps.edu/Academics/Schools/GSBPP/index.html>

Minimum qualifications:

- U.S. Citizenship
- Ability to teach principles of defense acquisition and program management and related courses at a graduate level
- Graduate degree in business administration, public administration, management, public policy, or a related field
- Senior Service College (or equivalent) graduate
- Significant defense acquisition program management experience and expertise (e.g., O6-level Project Manager/Deputy Project Manager in the DOD, Program Executive Officer (PEO)/Deputy PEO)
- DAWIA Level III certification in Program Management

Highly desired qualifications:

- Professional certification (e.g., PMP) is highly desired
- A proven track record of teaching effectiveness is highly desired

- A Doctoral degree in business administration, public administration, management, or public policy, or a related field is highly desired
- Experience in distance learning methods and technologies is highly desired
- The potential to publish quality research in academic journals appropriate for their disciplinary background is highly desired
- Additional DAWIA certifications in test & evaluation, engineering, production and quality management, science & technology, business and financial management are highly desired.

Salary is commensurate with qualifications and experience. Official transcripts, three letters of reference, senior service college graduation certificate, PM/PEO charter (or similar documentation for experience), and DAWIA certificates will be required of candidates who are selected for the interview phase of this recruitment action.

We are accepting applications immediately and until April 30, 2019.

About NPS:

NPS is an educational institution within the U.S. Department of Defense (DOD). It is located on the coast in Monterey, California, about 140 miles south of San Francisco. GSBPP is one of four separate schools within NPS, which awards graduate degrees in sciences, engineering, national security, computer science, operations research, and management. Students include U.S. and international military officers from all services, as well as federal employees. GSBPP has over 60 full-time faculty members, about 350 full-time resident students and approximately 200 part-time distance learning students. The AACSB, NASPAA, and the Western Association of Schools and Colleges accredit GSBPP and its degrees. Please visit <http://www.nps.edu> for further information on our institution.

The Naval Postgraduate School is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer.
