

PHASE I – NEEDS ASSESSMENT (IN-COUNTRY SITE SURVEY) (MASL P309130)

Each Mobile Education Team (MET) course in the IDARM series can be developed using a three-phased approach in partnership with the host country's military and civilian leadership and managers. This MET is the first phase.

Course development begins with a survey of a nation's needs in a specific resource management area. This phase involves IDARM program team members visiting the host country to meet with those executives and managers responsible for determining defense requirements and qualifications for acquisition program managers and decision makers. During a week-long period the team will work to develop an understanding of the host nation's defense priorities, policies and procedures and to establish relationships with acquisition managers in order to identify future course objectives and curriculum goals.

This phase is customized given a country's specific requirements.
