PUBLISHING WORKSHOPS

Presented by Dr. Kate Egerton, GWC (contractor)

WRITING FOR ONLINE OUTLETS

- Friday, October 11, 1500–1630, DKL 151

Do you want to impact broader military and security discussions? Learn to pitch, scope, draft, and revise short pieces for online outlets such as The Strategy Bridge and War on the Rocks. We will review submission requirements, learn from published writing, and show how writing coaches can help you shape your pieces for these audiences and specs.

WRITING FOR ACADEMIC JOURNALS

- Friday, October 18, 1300–1400, DKL 151

Learn to target appropriate academic journals for your discipline, decode submission requirements, query editors, prepare manuscripts, and address wider audiences for your academic research. This workshop covers the basics of academic publication, common obstacles, and models for adapting your research for publication as a journal article.
